Reading.

Task 1.

Read the text. Choose one of the variant A, B, C.

A famous English writer, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle travelled in France. A French taxi-driver once played a joke on him. The man drove Sir Arthur from the station to a hotel. After receiving the pay he said :“Thank you, Mr Conan Doyle.” Sir Arthur was surprised.

“Why, how did you guess my name?” asked Sir Arthur.

“Well Sir, I saw in the papers that you were coming from the south of France to Paris. From your appearance I understood that you were English; the barbers of south of France use to cut hair in the style you have; not long. I put two and two together and came into conclusion it was you.

“That is very clever. But, how did you know my name?”

“Well,” said the man, “it was very simple: your name is on your suitcases”.

Reading.

Read the text. Choose one of the variant T/F/NS.

E-book have been becoming more and more popular, and there are many reasons for this. Firstly, e-books are more eco-friendly than paper books. By having electronic versions of books, we save paper, trees and, as a result, our planet. Besides that, e-books are in many ways more convenient than paper books. For instance, you can store thousands of e-books in the same space you would need for one paper book. Just think of how convenient that can be for school or when travelling. What is more, in addition to online bookshops, many lending libraries also have e-book collections now .That means that if you want to buy or borrow a book, you don't have to wait for opening hours or delivery. The way I see it, e-books are the future and will eventually take the place of paper books.

Many people are quick to say that e-books will soon replace paper books. I, however, am not one of them. It may be true that e-books have certain advantages over paper books, but paper books are not threatened by them. First of all, we must not forget that paper books are part of our culture and heritage; our libraries hold great cultural and historical treasure. Apart from that, there is the reading experience; book lovers know that there is nothing like curling up on the sofa with a good book, feeling the touch of the pages and smelling the papers.

Personally, I believe that paper books will remain the main form of reading for most people.
